

Must Fight Disease Now, Don't Wait Till After War -- Visitor

"The day of 'What was good enough for father is good enough for me' is gone," Mrs. N. L. Mathews, president of the Newmarket Home and School Association, said at a crowded meeting in the Stuart Scott school on Tuesday evening.

"Our children will face situations we have not had to face," Mrs. Mathews said. "They will need physical and mental health. They need the best."

The secretary, Mrs. H. E. Gilroy, read the Home and School creed and then Mrs. J. C. R. Edwards introduced Dr. W. K. Fenton, Islington, M.O.H. for Etobicoke township. Dr. Fenton used movies and slides to illustrate his story of a municipal public health program.

Etobicoke, he said, has 18,000 population, 16 public schools, one separate school and one college.

"A nurse has a great advantage in persuading people, even educated people, of the necessity of health measures like toxoid," said Dr. Fenton as he began to show slides illustrating various children's diseases.

There were 745 deaths from diphtheria in Ontario in 1920 and, with toxoiding starting in 1925, 12 deaths in 1940, he said.

"It is part of the nurse's job spotting disease," said Dr. Fenton. "It is not a teacher's job. She doesn't understand it."

"Measles should not be taken lightly," he commented later. "They may lead to mastoid and meningitis. Children should be separated from the one who has it."

Mumps can cause sterility in either a boy or girl, Dr. Fenton said. He told of a youngster in one of the Etobicoke schools who had peeling hands. The nurse noted the condition. The child brought a note from the family physician saying that it was due to using too strong a soap. The nurse wasn't satisfied and called the M.O.H., who decided that it was scarlet fever. There were nine cases of scarlet fever from that class-room before the disease was checked, said Dr. Fenton.

Scarlet fever may extend to mastoid, meningitis or lead to deafness, Dr. Fenton said.

Scarlet fever toxoid and toxin are effective against the common strains of scarlet fever, Dr. Fenton believed. Vaccination protects nearly 100 percent from smallpox.

"When you have a large number of unvaccinated people in a community, smallpox can spread like wildfire," Dr. Fenton said. "It is better to be vaccinated every seven years."

"My school nurses are continually on the look-out for impetigo, a dirty disease," he said. "Whooping-cough may be fatal with children under one year. Any child who coughs until he vomits should be regarded as having whooping-cough till proved otherwise. In our schools we give whooping-cough vaccine."

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Evans have received a second letter, dated Sept. 10, from their son, Sgt. Fred Evans, a prisoner of war in Germany. He says:

"Here's the second letter and I sincerely hope and trust that by now all anxiety is cleared up, and before long we may all be together again. I am quite fit and getting along as well as can be expected. Four of us group together and share the Red Cross parcels which our group gets twice weekly and thank God for them too (then a sentence was blotted out by the censor)."

"Don't know when we'll get mail here, but hope it's soon. Please use air mail Mother, as I am very anxious to hear from you, and also tell all my friends my address, but explain we are really rationed in our letters going out."

He went on to say cigarettes are invaluable there, and ended by saying "Is ever 30 Millard Ave. going to look mighty good some day?"

Sgt. Evans' address is given so that any friend wishing to send a few lines may do so. Letters, unless air mail, need no stamp. The air mail forms are obtained at the post office and require a ten cent stamp. Put "Prisoner of War" in the upper left-hand corner and write on one sheet only, but both sides, clearly.

WAR CAN BE AVOIDED, SAYS A. N. BELUGIN

"What about tomorrow," was the subject of a talk by A. N. Belugin at St. Paul's men's club on Thursday evening.

"We all know what happened after the last war, and what, incidentally, happens after every war," said Mr. Belugin. "We first have confusion and adjustment, then prosperity and boom and then comes depression, a depression which ends in another war and thus the vicious circle is completed."

"Can we avoid this sequence of events? We can if we apply ourselves to the task with vigor, determination, and most of all, plain ordinary common sense."

"In suggesting an answer I venture to walk where angels fear to tread, because these angels, the wizards, the experts, have so far miserably failed. Did not the wizards, the mighty, the leaders of yesterday, tell us again and again that the first world war was the war to end all wars? Did not the leaders of recent years continue to advocate disarmament and otherwise act as if in reality another war was unthinkable?"

"My contention is that the vicious circle of war, adjustment, prosperity, boom, depression, war, has its root in the lack of balance between our modern, marvelously developed production system, on the one hand, and the antiquated, outmoded, although basically sound purchasing or distributing system. We learned by leaps and bounds how to make bigger and better things, how to make more and more of them, and how to grow more food, but we did not learn how to provide enough money for the people, the consumers, to buy to enjoy all these fruits of civilization."

"Can you imagine a farmer plowing, fertilizing and sowing with modern machinery, and then cutting with an old rusty scythe and threshing with a flail? Yet that is exactly what (Page 2, Col. 4)

WAR CAN BE AVOIDED, SAYS REV. A. B. STEIN

"If we all thought alike it would never do," Rev. A. B. Stein, pastor of the Congregational-Christian church, prefaced an address at the Newmarket Lions club on Monday evening.

"We've got to do something about war," said Mr. Stein. "All of you have experienced two wars, and I venture to say that you are all sick of the whole wretched mess. We all want to leave a better world for our posterity."

"It is unfair for us to pile up a debt to win the war, have our children pay for it and then have them have to do it all over again. We want to be finished with war."

"We have some cheery news just now, for which we should be thanking God, but I feel that the winning of the war is a long way off."

"The peace is not going to be won by our leaders. It is going to be retained to the extent that each of us makes an effort to retain it. Lord Halifax says that (Page 8, Col. 7)

Lions Play Santa Claus Again
This Year, Ask Your Help

EVEN THIS CHRISTMAS
THERE IS REAL NEED FOR GENEROUS GIVING

Some people say that practically all Newmarket families should be able to look after their own Christmas this year, but Lions club welfare committees say it doesn't work that way.

There are some people, they say, who would have the means this year, if they knew how to be careful and economical, to give their children a Christmas, but they waste what they earn and are not in a position, or have forgotten how, to make Christmas the day it should be. If the Lions club, with public aid, did not step into those homes disguised as Santa Claus, there would be a black Christmas for the youngsters.

It is certainly not the fault of the children and perhaps not the fault of the parents, and the Lions club is determined that the children shall not suffer.

In addition, there are still quite a few families who for reasons beyond their own control cannot provide a Christmas for the children. There may even be some soldier families who will need a little help from Santa Claus.

The money that is given to help these children is wisely spent. Clothing, food, and toys make up the parcels and give hope and cheer to the children and mothers a new warmth of feeling towards their fellow citizens and a new interest in life.

Money entrusted to the Lions club for Christmas welfare work will do a splendid job on the home front.

Having now spent three months in the Canadian west, I feel I may be qualified to meet the request of The Era-Express editor that I submit an article on any points of interest I might encounter in this part of our dominion. Newspaper space is valuable, so I will endeavor to be concise.

At the outset, I would like to send a word of personal greeting from Mrs. Greer and myself to the bevy of friends we left in Newmarket. The farther we got away from them, the dearer they seemed, and in the intense loneliness of our first few weeks, we would have given almost anything for the opportunity of walking down Newmarket Main St. I frequently said I would give five dollars a cup for coffee if I could call Mr. Koffend to meet me at Ale's as in days of (Page 8, Col. 6)

Town Will Help Pay For V.O.N. Nurse, Is Promise Of Dr. Dales

Mayor Dr. L. W. Dales advocated employment of a Victorian Order nurse, with action to be taken immediately in the new year, at a meeting of the Home and School Association on Tuesday evening.

Dr. Dales spoke following an illustrated lecture on public health work by Dr. W. K. Fenton, M.O.H. for Etobicoke township. Mrs. N. L. Mathews, president of the Home and School Association, reminded those present that nominations for three vacancies on the public school board and for the town council would be made on Friday evening and urged them to take an interest as citizens.

"I am very happy that I am still being invited places," said Dr. Dales.

Dr. Dales said that he had advocated appointment of a public health nurse for five months as a trial. He saw no reason why the mayor and the council and the M.O.H., "who is very badly underpaid," should be criticized. "The council is very sincere," he said.

"I am very sympathetic with the principle of looking after defects in children," he said. "After looking at the pictures tonight, one wonders how we ever grew up," he joked.

The Hepburn government, he said, had done one wonderful thing in giving people a chance to go to tuberculosis sanatoria. "We have been accused of following, not leading," said Dr. Dales. "Officially we do represent a pretty fair cross-section of the people of Newmarket. When the people of Newmarket are shown that a thing is really needed, they usually come across with it. Keep up your educational work. I congratulate you on the aggressiveness of your movement for a health nurse."

"Naturally, we would like to see a national health scheme. I believe you will all live to see in the next few years a national scheme, under which people will pay a reasonable fee and get health services in return. But I presume you are interested in the immediate present."

"Where is the money going to come from, and who is going to pay for the nurse year after year? I know it will pay big dividends. I know the money it will save the schools."

"Somebody has to pay. Somebody has to keep up the interest in the project even after it gets going. You can't drop this on the doorstep of the council or the board of health."

"I don't want to get into a controversy but I wonder if a Victorian Order nurse has been considered. You don't have to keep on with the V. O. N. indefinitely. The executive body for a V. O. N. nurse is a board of interested men and women. For a public health nurse the board of health is the executive. If the board of health is not progressive, your public health nurse may not work out as you think."

"The V. O. N. nurses have public health training the same as public health nurses. They charge fees where people can pay. The V. O. N. nurse is appointed by the V. O. N., not by a local group. The V. O. N. nurse would receive a government grant, a town grant and a grant from an insurance company. "You have heard that doctors won't look after people outside hospitals. If we can have trained nurses in the homes, we don't mind doing obstetrics there."

"If I am mayor of the town next year, there will be a committee, and we will map out a program that we would like a V. O. N. nurse to undertake, and I believe we can report progress early in the new year."

"A V. O. N. nurse would collect fees. You should get out and have tag days, and not drop it all on the tax rate. In spite of the Era, we are still leading the public, but we don't want to get so far ahead of the public that we're following."

Dr. Fenton confirmed Dr. Dales' statements about the Victorian Order of Nurses. "We have three school nurses, paid for by the school sections, the V. O. N. and the St. Elizabethan order, supported by the Catholic church," he said.

"I could mention a garbage situation in this town that Dr. Fenton wouldn't put up with for five minutes," Dr. Dales said. "We need sidewalks, sewage disposal, etc. We'll help you but don't ask us to take the full responsibility of organization. We are behind you but we want some financial and moral support."

"A big field day to raise money to pay for a nurse is out," said W. M. Cockburn. "I don't see any more reason why a public health nurse should depend on the success of a field day than should school teachers or the town clerk. It is a business proposition. A public health nurse shouldn't be paid for out of subsidies. I don't think organizations should be asked to contribute or raise money."

"The council voted themselves salaries this year and bought a new municipal office. I commend them on both points. The councillors have given us long hours of service and I don't begrudge them any pay."

"The mayor said that if we could educate the public we could get a nurse by a public vote. Children will lose their hearing while we do it. I don't for a moment think that we could have educated the public to the point where the public would vote for salaries for the council."

"If we look to education I think it will be 1953, not 1943, we are talking about."

"I think we would just be in for a repetition of what happened to the vocational wing on the high school. That was one of the worst things that has happened to this town since I have been here."

"I see no more reason why the question of a public health nurse should be submitted to the ratepayers than the engagement of another school teacher or an art teacher."

Among those present were A. N. Belugin, J. E. Nesbitt and W. J. Geer, representing the high school board, Councillor Wm. Dixon, and Fred Thompson, H. J. Luck, Chester Best and Mr. Cockburn, representing the Lions club.

Home and Schoolers Study Proposals Made By Mayor

IN PROJECT FOR PUBLIC HEALTH NURSE

The Home and School Association has issued the following statement:

On behalf of the public health committee of the Home and School Association we should like to express our appreciation of the great interest the citizens have taken in an effort towards procuring a public health nurse. At our meeting on Tuesday we were very pleased to have his worship, Dr. Dales, clarify the position taken by the present town council re their recent ruling on public health nurse. Some very good suggestions were made at this meeting and if upon careful study they can be adapted to conditions in Newmarket we shall be happy to follow them and to discuss with next year's council the immediate necessity of a health service.

DR. DALES' PROPOSAL

Newmarket is fortunate in its municipal government. Newmarket's sound financial position is the result of wise leadership a generation ago, when the serial debenture plan was adopted, and the restraint of the councils of the depression and war years in not entering into avoidable new obligations.

Dr. S. J. Boyd gave the town careful financial leadership and his successor, as mayor, Dr. L. W. Dales, has followed in the economy tradition. We have no hesitation in singling out the mayors for particular credit, for it is our observation that the chairman has a position of great influence in guiding the council, and that it usually rests with him as to whether a council acts wisely or unwisely. At the same time we do not minimize the work, the influence or the opportunities of other members of the council.

Nominations for the council take place on Friday evening, and apparently the public health nurse question has created interest in the elections. People rightly feel that now, when their representatives "go to the people," is the time for them to impress their views and wishes on those who seek office. Those who are elected may then feel that they are close to the people and that they have a mandate to act as their good sense and their commitments tell them to act. At the present time many people are urging on various councillors the desirability of a public health nurse and others are urging the undesirability of such a project.

Dr. Dales spoke wisely on Tuesday evening when he said that it was no use foisting a public health nurse on a board of health that doesn't want one. That was the only reason we were reconciled to what we considered an unnecessary vote on the question—to win the board's support for this health project. Dr. Wesley had said that there would be a public health nurse if the public voted to have one. That was Dr. Wesley's condition, and in our opinion, it was not an unreasonable condition. We are satisfied that if the public had voted for a nurse, Dr. Wesley would have loyally supported the decision and engaged a nurse who would have had the support of council, board of health and public.

Dr. Dales' alternative suggestion is not an unreasonable one. He suggests a V. O. N. nurse, partly supported out of the tax rate and partly by public subscription. That is a fair compromise, even though some of us see no reason why a nurse's salary should not be paid for entirely out of taxes. Town revenues, incidentally, don't come entirely from taxation of real estate. The last couple of years the tax rate has been reduced by two mills by a surplus from the water and light departments, by one mill by a subsidy from the provincial government in lieu of income tax, and to some extent by fines, licenses, and penalties and interest on taxes. In addition, a substantial part of the tax revenue comes from business assessment, and we believe that business in this town is willing to pay a share towards health services.

We hope that Dr. Dales reiterates his proposal for a V. O. N. nurse at the nomination meeting, and that other members of the council join with him. We hope that they do, but we recognize that all people don't have to think alike, and that the strength of our democratic system rests on men who have the courage to think and act differently, even if their opinions sometimes seem lacking in vision and may not seem to be based on knowledge and study.

We also hope, and we believe that every member of the town council will join in this hope, that a few new men or women offer their services for the council.

OUR MISTAKE

In setting forth the financial prospects of the town for next year, in an article last week, we slipped into an error. We mixed the school year with the town's financial year (the calendar year). In view of there being two less teachers on the public school staff than budgeted for, we said that there would be a saving of $1,000 this year. The fact is, however, that the board had the full number of teachers for the first half of the calendar year and one of the two teachers now off the staff for part of the present school year. In view of unexpected expenses, it is believed that the public school board will have little saving from its budget for 1942.

However, even if the public school budget remains the same next year (and we suppose the public school board should take into consideration the possibility that the war may be over by next September and that the schools may have a normal-sized staff again), the tax picture for next year is excellent. Whether or not the town engages a public health nurse, there is no need for a tax rate increase.

Sgt. Major Harry E. Popplatt, who was born in Newmarket and is well known here, is reported wounded.

There were 96 present at the night school on Friday. A special meeting of the advisory board was held at the office of the secretary last Friday evening to consider 21 applications to take typewriting with stenography. A request for two more tables and electric iron from the dress-making class was granted.

Pte. W. E. Cairns has been wounded, according to word received by his brother in Toronto. Pte. Cairns is a nephew of Mrs. P. C. McCallum, where he made his home during the three years he was employed by the Davis Leather Co.

Competition for the first Carter scholarships between students at Newmarket, Aurora, Richmond Hill, Weston and Markham high schools resulted in W. J. Clapton of Ketticby earning the $100 cash first prize, and Miss Edith Atkinson of Queensville the $50 second prize. The third prize went to a student at Markham.

Mrs. E. W. Bogart, mother of Mrs. N. J. Roudhouse, fell and broke her hip when she was picking up wood for the stove, last Thursday evening.

Owing to the disagreeable weather, attendance at the Victory Bond meeting in the town hall on Wednesday evening was small.

Pte. Stanley Mortimer, son of the late Wm. Mortimer of Newmarket, who has been missing in France since Oct. 31, has been officially reported killed in action.

That the campaign in North York for the dominion election will be one of more than ordinary interest was apparent by the large attendance at the nomination meeting in Newmarket on Monday, when the town hall was crowded to the doors and many were turned away. John A. Armstrong and Wm. L. Mackenzie King are the two candidates. The election will be held on Dec. 17.

Newmarket hunters returned from Muskoka without getting anything—but a ducking. Robert Weddel slipped while moving a cutter Wednesday and got a bad cut in his head.

Notwithstanding the muddy roads there was a good market on Saturday. Butter was 16 to 19 cents a pound and eggs 19 to 20 cents a dozen.

Only a few horses were offered for sale here on Tuesday and the Montreal buyers made only one purchase.

There is some discussion in town about the shortening of the school hours and doing away with the recess. During the muddy and cold weather the change is regarded with favor. Older residents are inclined to view the innovation with suspicion.

Red army forces are still advancing and have occupied a number of populated places northwest of Stalingrad. British and American troops moved into position on Tuesday for a drive on Tunis and Bizerte and a costly air struggle for the Half the large Jewish population in occupied Poland have been ordered by Heinrich Himmler, head of the Nazi Gestapo, to be put to death. Poles in London say.

TO THE EDITOR

Editor, The Era and Express: I was very interested in reading in the current issue of The Era and Express the item you have under the heading "Enemy Aliens" and I quite agree with the Toronto Telegram's statement or comment published in your paper.

It has been a very opaque situation to me why any Canadian, no matter what their position would be, would want to have a foreign alien educated in our Canadian universities when our own boys are forfeiting their educations to go overseas to fight these same people or their friends and relatives. This doesn't look to be understandable to me at all from any angle. We think we are right or we wouldn't undertake the job that we have already undertaken and are going to carry through.

For instance, I know a great many people who have sons of the age to go to university and either can't afford to send them there or they are enlisting in the army, which is quite right. Now, why should those people join in the expense of educating enemy aliens, whose kin our boys are fighting, and very rightly so? It seems to me that the thing is being pushed over that these enemy aliens are allowed in our own universities without the full knowledge of the people who are paying the shot. I think the proper place for these enemy aliens would be in the concentration camp or some such place; certainly not getting an education at our boys' expense.

I am,
Yours sincerely,
W. H. S. Cano,
Sheriff, County of York.

we are trying to do when we flood the market with shiny mass-production cars and send our people to buy them with ten percent down and catch-as-catch-can payments of the balance.

"Our economic system is like a man whose left leg has been wonderfully developed while his right leg was left to grow with but little exercise and encouragement. Since his left leg is stronger, with every step he deviates to the left, and the first thing we know he is away off his original course. The same is true of our civilization. It cannot walk straight.

"Our so-called economic experts say that when demand exceeds supply everybody is busy trying to produce that extra supply which is demanded. They say that when supply exceeds demand, depressions begin.

"Supply never in the history of civilized man has exceeded demand. It doesn't even exceed demand at the lowest point of the most bitter depression, and for all practical purposes it never will. Just the opposite is true. Demand is always stronger than supply. If we have one radio, we want two. If we have an old car, we want a new one. If we have a new one, we want a better one.

During the last depression Canadian farmers were being ruined because they couldn't get more than 50 cents a bushel for their wheat because there was no demand, and yet hundreds of thousands of Chinese and Russians were starving.

"Our cure for depression is war. We destroy everything we have so enthusiastically been building so that we can balance our production and purchasing power, and begin to function again.

"This does not exonerate Messrs. Hitler, Mussolini and Hirohito of their war guilt. They did start the war to pursue their own ends. Our governments did not want this war, but they were unable to stop it because it was necessary to destroy so that we could build again and have prosperity again. This formula is so deeply rooted in our subconscious mind that we do not even realize that we, you and I, are all war mongers down in the depth of our souls.

"Let us be frank with ourselves for once. We do enjoy war in a way. We crave adventure, excitement, a chance to release our pent-up feelings. We also like a little extra profit, though huge war profits are no longer available to individual industrialists and to them war becomes more and more a pain in the neck. The butcher, the barber, the baker, the candlestick-maker earn something extra from the boys of the local training camps. Factories get rid of dead stock. Some of us get soft jobs while the war lasts.

With labor scarce, we can tell our boss to go and jump in the lake, and even if we don't do it we enjoy the thought that we could if we wanted to. Let us stop being war mongers and eliminate war. How? By building our purchasing power up to the standards of our wonderful producing power. How can we do it? My suggestion is so simple that I am afraid you will be disappointed.

"Gold is still the one and only medium of international exchange. We need to dig up more and more gold so that against it as security our governments could print more and more paper money, and put that money into circulation. Governments would put this money into circulation by means of public works and decreased taxation. The less taxes we pay the more money we have left to spend on ourselves and thus to give another push to reviving business.

"If the government subsidized and helped business engaged in gold-mining it could not lose. The government could afford to take chances and subsidize promising and abandoned mines which private enterprise alone cannot afford to take chances on. Simply because there is safety in numbers.

"The childish suggestions of socialist visionaries to divide the wealth of millionaires among the people would never work because, in the first place, all the money rich people have could not change the situation, for the simple reason that there is not enough to go around. Furthermore, deprived of his capital and the security it offers, no sane industrialist would continue to run his business—and then where would be your civilization. I am not talking about the idle rich. There are not enough idle rich to be worth mentioning.

"Let us be the masters of this wonderful civilization we have built with our inventive genius, our enthusiasm, our ambitions, and not slaves shackled to the vicious circle we ourselves, through one-sided thinking, have created."

Ladies Realize Over $200 From Auction Sale

The Women's Institute raised $203.40, which will be used for war work, at the auction sale held at the Vandorf hall on Friday evening. Of this, $175 was from the sale itself and the remainder were the proceeds from a quilt and lunch counter. The quilt went to J. A. Clark.

The monthly meeting of the Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. C. Moynihan, with an attendance of 30 ladies and children. The meeting opened by singing the Institute Ode and national anthem. After the usual business, correspondence and final arrangements for the sale were dispensed with. Mrs. Walter Graham gave a paper on saccharin and sugar. Mrs. Stephenson gave a paper on health. The roll-call was answered by "Don'ts for the Sick Room."

FINDS NEWFOUNDLAND HIGHLY HOSPITABLE

"At last I've gotten myself to writing a few lines to thank you for the cigarettes I received not long ago," Coder Bruce Gould writes the Newmarket Veterans in appreciation of the cigarettes which he has received from them. "I guess Bill Shropshire has seen you by now and expressed appreciation for the swell attention we've all been receiving here by you and the rest of dear old Newmarket. Honestly it really does make a fellow feel good to know that folks back home are so keenly interested and urging him on."

"I don't know whether you've heard very many tall tales about Newfoundland or not—but you can take it from me—that as long as I've got to be away from home this is the place I want to be. The weather is not up to what it is in Ontario. Things don't move along as fast. They do have some funny, backward ways and ideas here, but they can be easily overlooked. As you won't find a more friendly, hospitable, a more eager person to take you into his home and make you just like one of the family than a Newfoundlander. There are also many very good looking girls. "St. John's itself just reminds me of an oversized farming town—with just a little stronger smell of fish than manure. As you can readily understand, fish is the national dish and therefore the inhabitants are quite witty. (I wouldn't want a certain party to hear me talk like this. I would immediately be misunderstood.) They are really not accustomed to serious compliments—especially from sailors. But they do

TOWN'S SOLDIERS ARE FOUND FAR AND WIDE

Editor, The Era and Express: It is some time since I have written thanking you for the paper which arrives every time a mail comes in.

First of all, I would like to convey my sincere sympathy for the families that have lost sons and relatives in air raids and so forth if you will do this through your paper.

It is fine to receive all the news of the old town and to know just what is going on, even if we can't be there to see for ourselves. We all hope it won't be long now until we will be home again and believe me it will be a great day when that time comes.

We are having some very queer weather over here at present but living in hopes it will clear up soon.

It seems we can't get cleared up with our work, but as long as our little bit will help we won't mind.

It is nice to see that the town boys are doing so well in this man's army, getting commissions and so on. It is good to read about.

I take a great interest in the hardball league and will watch for the hockey season to open, which won't be very long now. Thanking you again for the paper.

Sgt. Ted Robinson, Canadian Treasury Office, England.

Editor, The Era and Express: Greatly appreciate again receiving copies of The Era and Express. I might say, boat mail to this queer but interesting Island is exceedingly slow, arriving anywhere between two and three months behind, but, although late, it is all fresh news to us down here.

Read with interest of the whereabouts of other town boys on active service in other fields, of the success of the Lions club's carnival, the wins and losses in the various bowling tournaments and of the good work being done by the other war auxiliaries and organizations.

Being located, as we are, in the tropics, it is difficult for us to realize that in Newmarket winter must be just around the corner, quite different from here, as we have noticed little change in the extreme heat since arriving about eight months ago.

Again let me express pleasure about the papers finally catching up with me.

J. W. Bartholomew, (Captain) Kingston, Jamaica, Nov. 6, 1942

Editor, The Era and Express: I received in yesterday's mail a carton of 300 cigarettes from the Newmarket War Veterans Association. I wish to thank them and the other people of Newmarket who make it possible for us to receive these lovely gifts. They are very much appreciated, I can assure you.

Incidentally, I very much miss your weekly newspaper and the other magazines and papers I used to receive from Canada.

In closing I might add that I am in good health and looking forward to getting back to Newmarket to say hello to all my old friends and thank all the different societies personally for the many gifts I have received through the kindness of the people of Newmarket. I remain, as ever, know we love the place—hmm. "I guess Newmarket will soon be swinging into the hockey season again. Hope they can do as well as they have in previous years. Without the usual players, I mean, as they have probably all joined the ranks by now."

Pte. Vern S. Clark. (Editor's note—Pte. Clark's failure to receive The Era and Express is apparently due to a change of address.)

"Once again I wish to thank you for myself and for all others who for some reason may be unable to do so for themselves for the cigarettes received and we all hope Newmarket will keep its chin up in the air. No one is going to take a sock at it as long as we keep rolling along as we have been. Thanks a million."

A card expressing appreciation was received from F.O. Jack Malcolm.

SCRAMBLERS THIS WEEK WILL SEE GREER GARSON, WALTER PIDGEON IN MRS. MINIVER

Last week's contest apparently had a few puzzle fans "stumped" and only 16 correct answers were sent in.

Wray Playter of Roadhouse and Rose drew the winners. They are: James Raymond, Simcoe St. W., Newmarket, Mrs. Art Sheridan, 36 Prospect St., Newmarket, Mrs. Dorothy McCann, Newmarket, Mrs. Cecil Smith, Pefferlaw, R. R. 2, and Margaret Bosworth, Newmarket.

These winners have their choice of seeing Cary Grant, Jean Arthur and Ronald Colman in "The Talk of the Town," and Will Fyffe and Leslie Banks in "Neutral Port," on Tuesday, Dec. 1, or Charles Boyer, Rita Hayworth, Ginger Rogers and Henry Fonda, in "Tales of Manhattan," and William Tracy and Joe Sawyer in "About Face," on Thursday, Dec. 3 (Thursday's program has been changed since last week). Passes may be picked up any evening at the Strand theatre.

The correct answers were: enquire, registered, preferred, abundance, annex, recording, condition, attachment, condition, reasonable.

This week the ten classified words are scrambled. Nothing has been added and nothing left out (we hope). Here they are: EAUQUART, GNIKCOIS, SIP-OSBYL, LBAEREGA, RVEO-TOA, UTSAPRE, YOTIPNO-URT, ENXOTIESN, EOSRAT-PARS, HETPENOLE.

SEND XMAS GIFTS

The members of the Women's Auxiliary of St. Paul's church packed their annual box of Christmas gifts for the needy white settlers of the Canadian northwest last Thursday afternoon. There was an exceptionally good turn out and nobody came empty-handed. The result was 93 splendid Christmas gifts packed ready to be shipped to headquarters. Besides the gifts a splendid bale of used warm clothing was also sent.

On Monday, St. Andrew's Day, the day when the members of the Woman's Auxiliaries everywhere join in a corporate communion, the Newmarket branch will attend a communion service in the church at 10:30 a.m. The time is set in accordance with Archbishop Owen's request, in order that all over the country the service may be held at the same hour.

The following week, on Thursday, Dec. 10, the monthly devotion and business meeting will take place in the parish hall, when the Christmas boxes for the men in service in Canada will be packed.

WOMEN DO WAR JOB IN HOME, MINISTER STATES

The November meeting of the Newmarket Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. W. J. Geor last Thursday. The president, Mrs. Max Smith, was in the chair. Mrs. Ed. Boyd called the roll, which was answered by "suggestions for friendly international relationships."

Rev. Henry Cotton gave an interesting talk on the part women are playing in the fight for freedom. He said that over one million women in Britain are working in factories today. He told of what the women in Canada are doing, and said that not only women in the services but also women in the homes have a great part to play in keeping up morale.

Mrs. Alex. Dunn, convener of the war work committee, reported that towels and tumblers had been sent to the military camp hospital. Ten ditty bags were sent to the Navy League and 12 boxes to men overseas. Twelve scarves were sent to the Red Shield and a number of pairs of socks were sent to other organizations to go in boxes for overseas.

Mrs. W. J. Geor was elected as secretary for the balance of the year, Miss Constance Roadhouse having handed in her resignation due to illness at home.

NURSING RESERVE ORGANIZES MONDAY

The first meeting of the Red Cross nursing emergency reserve will be held on Monday at 8 p.m. at the Stuart Scott school. The national executive of the Canadian Red Cross has authorized the establishment of a voluntary emergency reserve in Canada.

The purpose of the emergency reserve is to provide an auxiliary group with training in home nursing and war emergencies, capable of giving nursing care under professional direction (medical or nursing) in their own homes or in the home of a neighbor.

"We all realize the importance of physical fitness and the need for knowledge of principles and practices of nursing skills, so that we may benefit by them when the need arises and so contribute our share toward national health," stated Mrs. W. R. Stephens, president of the Red Cross.

This course is sponsored by the Red Cross organization and the A.R.P. organization and it is hoped that the first meeting will be well attended. An outline of the course will be given and applications will be received. Any woman in Newmarket or East Gwillimbury is eligible to attend this course.

MERCHANTS GIVE PRIZES FOR RUBBER MATINEE

Instead of holding the usual toy and canned goods matinee this year before Christmas, the Strand theatre has decided to hold a rubber salvage matinee. In this way the youngsters can perform a great service in the national emergency.

The Newmarket salvage committee is sponsoring the event and will receive all rubber brought in. Secretary W. A. Spear has agreed to have a set of scales at the theatre in order to determine the exact amounts turned in.

The price of admission asked of each child is a minimum donation of one pound. So get busy now, boys and girls, and canvass everybody in your neighborhood for all available rubber. Prizes of two dollars in war stamps will be given to the boy and girl bringing in the largest number of pounds of rubber.

These prizes have been donated by the following merchants: R. C. Morrison, Frank Bowser, Best Drug Store and Smith's Hardware.

The matinee will be held Saturday morning at 10 a.m., Dec. 5. This will enable the children to be out by 11:30 and thus be off the streets before the noon hour traffic starts.

Presentation of prizes will take place from the stage just before the show.

By Isabel Inglis Colville

If I may paraphrase Gilbert and Sullivan, I'll say, "A warden's life is not a lazy one." And yet our warden, in the midst of his busy life, has found time to attend to the affairs of state, to take time to gather up a few of his neighbors who were anxious to attend the central area Women's Institute convention, meeting Nov. 4, 5 and 6, at the Royal York, and land them safely at their desired haven.

Some other time, I'll write more in detail of the various talks given by the members who summed up the year's activities, but in this little article I'd like to deal more particularly with some of the people who lent their time and talents to make the convention what it was. I can only speak for the day it was, but it was important for various reasons.

First of all, one of our own girls had been asked to act as chairman for the girls' session and this made us most anxious to be in the audience.

Miss Florence Eadie, in charge of this session, struck us as a very forceful person, who would see that whatever help the girls needed they would get.

She encouraged the mothers to show an interest in the girls' efforts and successes, for nothing spurs one to great effort more than sympathy. She then called on Miss Frances Stickwood to take charge.

If any mother there needed confirmation of the fact that the girls' work is an excellent training, they had it there, for not for nothing had Frances faced other less formidable gatherings and told of work done and done.

Her voice came sweet and clear through the loudspeaker and after a few words to the girls' work, she introduced Miss Little, who told of the girls' garden project.

She, in terms quite glowing, made us feel that the question asked, "Mary, Mary, quite contrary," in the nursery was quite superfluous, Miss Little made us see her garden grow.

She said a garden for a farm girl was most important. It added variety to the diet, color and interest to the meal, it's a pleasure to watch it grow, and provides an excellent form of exercise. It impelled us, as Frances said, to disregard the season and go home and plant a garden at once.

The girls were given seeds to plant a garden for a family of seven. The agricultural representative discussed with them place, drainage and control of pests, and the fruits of their labors were exhibited at full fair.

Mrs. Cunningham of Pleasant Valley spoke on the "National Pantry Shelf" and demonstrated a whole day's meals. We, her audience, were getting hungry anyway, and by the time all these tempting meals were on display, we were far, far hungrier.

Miss Haushausen spoke on the cereal shelf, the richness of their storehouse of vitamins of the B group and the different uses to which we could put them.

Bernice McGill of the Rosemount club spoke on "Cottons Are Smart" and had with her two girls, who with her were dressed made by themselves—and they were smart and very pretty.

She showed her book, which showed snaps of the dresses, also fragments of the materials used. This closed the girls' session, and it proved interesting, instructive and enlightening.

The next thing was luncheon, and I think nearly everyone present had secured a ticket. Being near the back of the convention hall, we were rather in the vanguard of those waiting for the banquet hall to open.

In a crowd like that I wish for added inches, but I was swept in on the crest of the wave of women and our little party were fortunate in finding four seats at a table for seven, almost opposite the head table.

Of the three strangers who filled the other three places, one was a delightful person, one looked and acted as if we disagreed with her—suddenly she didn't! And I considered that as we were all inattentive didn't need any introduction I DID talk, and my reception was as follows: I hope I meet my right hand neighbor again—she was charming—and with her assistance, Mrs. Toole, Mrs. Ridley, Mrs. Needler and I, managed to survive the iceberg quality of the other lady.

The luncheon was excellent and, as most of us had an early breakfast, we enjoyed it. It was fruit cocktail, lamb with mint sauce, French-fried potatoes, green beans, ice cream cake, coffee.

Of course, just after the arrival of Princess Alice, God save the King had been sung, followed by grace, which was also sung.

Then Mrs. Maynard of Unionville, who acted as chairman, introduced H.R.H., Princess Alice.

I do not often use "lovely" to describe anyone, but it suited the princess. She was very quietly dressed in gown and hat of wine color, and her manner, dignified personality.

She spoke of her pleasure in meeting the members of our organization, of the splendid work and NEED for the work they were doing and what it meant to Britain, and she spoke of our task in the reconstruction period after the war.

Some of her closing words struck me particularly, "In time of peace," she said, "we didn't prepare for war. Let us, in time of war, prepare for peace." She also said that though farm work was a less spectacular form of war work than some others it WAS, nonetheless, war work. The commonest farm work was helping to win the war.

The Hon. P. M. Dewar came next, and spoke briefly of the Institute's co-operation with his

BRUSH WOLVES INVADE KING TOWNSHIP AREA

Kenneth Pottage, King township farmer, has two brush wolves to his credit this fall. The first he shot and the second he trapped. The second wolf, caught by one foot, tried to spring at him when he found it in the trap. It measured 51 inches from the tip of the tail to the nose. The first one was 36 inches long.

Written to concerning these wolves by Major Kelley, a neighbor, J. R. Dymond of the Royal Ontario Museum of Zoology said that he would be glad to have it made known that the museum would pay $4 for the skin and perfect skull of brush wolves.

That made Mr. Pottage's wolves worth $20 each, $20 provincial bounty, $5 township bounty and $4 for the skin and skull.

MUSIC AND ART LOVER DIES IN HIS 90TH YEAR

The death occurred at St. Michael's hospital, Toronto, on Saturday of one of Aurora's oldest residents, Franklin Right Cummer. He was in his 90th year.

Born at Willowdale in 1853, he was the last survivor of his generation of a family which came from Pennsylvania in 1797 to settle in Upper Canada around the outskirts of York on Yonge Street.

The settlement was known for many years as Cummer's settlement. From his youth he was interested in music, and was an accomplished pianist and organist, having studied in New York, Paris and Leipzig, from which latter institution he received a doctor's degree in music.

He taught at Toronto, Barrie and Newmarket and was organist for some years at St. John's church, Newmarket, and St. Cecilia's church, Toronto. Next to music, travel and art were his great loves and he visited many parts of the world.

He had resided in Aurora at different periods of his life, finally settling here about 15 years ago, when he built a new residence, the north wing of which housed his collection of over 1,500 photographs, his pipe-organ and grand piano. Here he was pleased to exhibit his collection and play his favorite Bach and Beethoven to visitors.

In the collection are some of the finest prints of Italian, Spanish and French art, including a huge photo of the ceiling of the Sistine chapel. Japanese art also was a favorite.

He was a bachelor. At considerable expense he prepared a history of the Cummer family some years ago.

The funeral service was held on Tuesday morning. Interment was in Aurora cemetery.

The plow donated by Floyd Perkins, Richmond Hill, was won by George Irwin, Agincourt. The special prize donated by Clarence Graham of Woodbridge was won by Aubrey Marwood of Woodbridge. Second and third prizes in this class were won by Maurice Tapscott and Carman Tapscott respectively.

Justice For All Men And All Nations, McCulley Asks

Headmaster Joseph McCulley of Pickering College was the guest preacher at Aurora United church on Sunday morning. Mr. McCulley predicted a new world order after the present conflict.

"Out of our present conflict there must come some good or sacrifices will have been in vain," he declared. "We must win the peace. Once before we relaxed after victory, and missed the way. The church this time must meet the task before it. It must lay down the principles upon which true national life and permanent peace alone can be built—social justice for all, and the brotherhood of man."

It was a hopeful sign, he concluded, to see leading statesmen of all nations and many leading churchmen asking what were the aims of the United Nations, what principles had they all in common now and after the war. To the youth of Canada and the youth of the world would be entrusted great opportunity and great responsibility.

"New ideas, new visions are needed to bring about the needed changes," he declared. "There is a challenge to youth to lead the way. The church must justify its existence by leadership in seeing that the precepts of Christianity are put into operation. It should have the courage to right its own house where need be and to keep pace with the problems of a rapidly changing world."

"Out of all world crises has come something better than that which we had before, but this time we must carry things to their natural and logical end. International boundaries and prejudices must be transcended."

Three Sons Served In Last War, 8 Grandsons In This

Mr. and Mrs. James Gould celebrated their 62nd wedding anniversary on Monday. Mr. Gould is 88 and Mrs. Gould 79 and both are in good health.

When The Era and Express called on Sunday, three of their children and over 30 relatives were present, while others were present on Saturday and Monday. All of the 11 children of the family are alive. They have 43 grandchildren and 20 great-grandchildren.

"This year transportation difficulties and war work will keep some of our family from being present but we have heard from them all," said Mr. Gould. Mr. Gould still takes exercise daily and this year put in a garden.

Mrs. Gould, who is confined to the house most of the time, knits for her grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

For over 13 years the family have resided here after residing in Stouffville, Port Huron and Markham and Whitchurch townships. Mr. and Mrs. Gould are members of Aurora Baptist church.

With eight grandchildren serving in the armed forces, one rejected for active service and several more likely to enter the present conflict, Mr. and Mrs. Gould take a keen interest in the war.

"I look for a long war yet but I think the tide has turned in our favor," said Mr. Gould. Three of their sons served in the Great War.

All branches of the family are represented in the present conflict. In England are Pte. Ernest Yake and Pte. James Yake. In Canada is Corporal Murray Yake, in Manitoba with an infantry unit. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. O. Yake, Mother, Man.

With the R.C.A.F. in Alaska is LAC James Rae, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Rae, Lemonville. Pte. Gordon Major is with an infantry unit in British Columbia, while James Major was discharged because of ill-health. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Major, Orono, former Aurora residents.

With the navy is Seaman Albert Gould and at Hamilton is LAC Herbert Gould. The eighth grandson on service is Pte. Harold Foster, Camp Borden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Foster, Aurora.

The 11 Gould children reside as follows: Oscar, in Wellington county, Fred, in Toronto, Harold in Alberta, John in Whitchurch, William in Aurora, Mabel (Mrs. O. Yake) in Mather, Man., Elizabeth (Mrs. R. Major) in Orono, Nellie (Mrs. I. Meyers) in Weston, Marlene (Mrs. Stewart Rae) in Lemonville and Mrs. Albert Foster in Aurora.

QUEEN'S YOKS GO THROUGH BLACK-OUT

C company, 2nd Battalion, Queen's York Rangers, journeyed to Toronto last Wednesday for training with the battalion.

While at work the sirens sounded and the armory lights flashed out for Toronto's longest black-out test of the season.

After about 15 minutes most were able to discern their comrades in the shadows. During the black-out there was no confusion or accidents.

Lieut. J. D. Lucas, county solicitor, and Lieut. W. W. Galloway, county treasurer, paraded with the battalion. R.S.M. Lewis Jowett received the Canadian Efficiency medal from the hands of the officer commanding, Lieut.-Col. John Hyde Bennett, V.D.

Guests of the unit for the evening included Warden C. Earl Toole, Reeve James Rennie, Markham, and Deputy-Reeve Boynton Weldrick, Vaughan, the county commissioners, and Deputy-Reeve Charles Hooper, Markham.

Following the dismissal of the parade an interesting ceremony took place in the officers' mess when Warden Toole turned on the lights illuminating a new cabinet containing the regimental colors.

"The Queen's York Rangers, the county battalion, are the pride of the county, and no unit has a finer history," said Mr. Toole. "It has brought honor and renown to the county in the past and I am sure new honors and new fame will be won in the near future."

ment war contract scandal. Interesting sidelights of the whole thing is that the firm worked on a cost-plus basis, and $11,000 per annum was paid to Lionel Conacher, recently directing athletics for the C.C.A.F., as vice-president of the firm. $18,000 was charged up for amateur hockey expenses. The whole thing speaks for itself, and amateur sport is well rich in such facts and figures. The big De La Salle kid whom a few weeks ago we called one of the best players ever to appear in the local arena, has been signed by the Toronto Maple Leafs and will be seen in action likely this week. Despite the fact that it is a whole lot different playing against pro teams than

FORMER KESWICK BOY,
G. L. PROSSER, DIES

Glen L. Prosser, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Prosser of Keswick, died in Chicago on Nov. 15. Mr. Prosser spent his boyhood days in Kes-wick and attended public school here. He left some 35 years ago for Chicago. He has been employed with the American Express Co. ever since going to Chicago.

His cheery disposition won for him many friends and the beautiful floral tributes and crowds who called to pay their last respects testified to the esteem in which he was held.

His sister, Mrs. Chas. Anderson, Sutton, and an aunt, Mrs.
Etta Wilder, have been in Chicago since Nov. 4.
Surviving is his widow, Katherine Prosser, and a brother,
Alan, in Indiana, and one sister, Mrs. Anderson (Myrtle).

Mrs. Richard Young of Newmarket visited her son, Mr. Ross Pollock, over the weekend.
A community shower was held in the United church Monday evening for Helen Hamilton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs.
George Hamilton, whose marriage takes place in the United church on Saturday. She received many lovely gifts.

J. H. Harper, postmaster, received word yesterday of the death of his mother, Mrs. Janet Weir Harper, who passed away at her Thornhill home on Monday. She was in her 55th year.
Her husband predeceased her in 1937.

Surviving are four sons, John H., Keswick, William, Milliken,
Charles, Toronto, and Henry W.,
Thornhill, and one sister, Mrs.
John Gibson, Thornhill.

7TH CON. N. G.
SEES TOMBS PILED UP WITH SAND BAGS

A letter dated Oct. 13, from LAC Robert Brown, says in part:
"I haven't had mail from Canada for some time. I get the Newmarket Era now and see quite a lot of home news."

"I went into London last Thursday on a sight-seeing tour.
An old guy of the staff of the Beaver club showed us around.
"We saw General De Gaulle's headquarters near the Beaver club. We went down to Buckingham Palace and saw the changing of the guard. They had real good band music."

"Then we walked over through St. James' park to Westminster Abbey. Our guide took us all through the Abbey. We saw where the coronation took place but the chair had been removed for safekeeping. We saw where the bomb came through the dome."

"All the kings' tombs are surrounded with piles of sand bags and it surely mars a lot of the beauty of it. We went to 10 Downing St. and saw 'Winnik's' house, also saw where Herr Von Ribbentrop stayed before hostilities broke out."

"In the afternoon my chum and I went and saw Madam Tussaud's waxworks, famous people reproduced in wax. Most of them are perfect images of the originals, such as Churchill, Chamberlain, Roosevelt, the royal family, Adolf and his stooges, Mickey Rooney, Charlie Chaplin,
Mahatma Gandhi, Chiang-Kai-Shek and lots of others."

"We finished up at the London zoo. We then had to beat it back to camp that night."

DOWN THE CENTRE

though he spent his first year in the minor league with Syracuse.
Cain is listed as 30 years of age and Thoms as 32. Both boys, like Little Elsie, "just laughed and laughed" when their scoring feats squeaked the Leafs. There's no love lost by the North Yorkers for the day dandies. The Leafs missed a good bet not getting Herbie a few years back when they had the chance, while Thoms, once Leaf property, has never regretted the move that sent him to the Black Hawks, where playing styles suit him better.

Reward dept. Charlie ("Red") Barrett practically pitched Syracuse Chiefs to the championship of the International league. When his chance comes for the big league, who drafts him but the lowly Boston Braves? The Boston hitters the past few years have made a pitcher work twice as hard for a win as almost any other team. Guess "Red" wonders if it was a promotion or not.

Bob Benville writes from the coast he expects to be back for Xmas, as he will have finished the course he is on by then. He says the army have the team to beat on the coast and the navy and R.C.A.F. will need puck reinforcements if they are to stand up.
"Nick" Metz, recently injured, heads the soldier team. His injured foot has progressed to the stage where he can wield a table tennis racket in his left hand but hockey and badminton appear out, as does boxing. He reports seeing Eddie Mosley, Fred, Bray, John Ottum, Jimmy Lowe, and several other North Yorkers now on duty at the coast.
Did you know that General
Dwight ("Ike") Eisenhower, commander-in-chief of American forces in North Africa, was a member of the army football team when he attended West Point and once broke his leg in a contest? Eisenhower, once he gets the Nazis in the open field, will know how to tackle them and pen them in the end zone. Looks like he is headed for a touchdown already.

KESWICK

FALLS WITH TREE, BUT INJURIES ARE SLIGHT

Prior to her recent marriage to Henry S. Hill of Orillia, Miss Ruby Sheppard was honored at a party and shower held in the schoolroom of the United church. Many useful and beautiful gifts were presented, indicating the high regard in which she and her mother, Mrs. E. J. Sheppard, are held in the community. She made suitable reply in acknowledging the gifts, as did also Colin Wildfield, Newmarket, who, in the absence of Mr. Hill, represented the groom.

With Mrs. S. Pegg at the piano, the evening's program opened with a sing-song. Mrs. Harold Pollard contributed piano numbers after which the guests were divided into four teams for a series of games. A lunch committee, convened by Mrs. Cecil Grant, served tasty refreshments. The schoolroom had been tastefully decorated for the occasion by friends of the bride, Mrs. Ewart VanNorman, Mrs. Harold Pollard and Misses Marion Main and Betty Henry.

Mr. and Mrs. Gladstone Marritt of Hamilton were weekend guests at the Wm. Marritt home.
Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Prosser visited their son, Rev. Gordon Prosser, and Mrs. Prosser, in Chesley last weekend.

The Women's Association of the United church will meet in regular monthly session next Thursday afternoon. Following the meeting there will be the usual supper and after the supper a concert program.

Orvan Huntley had a narrow escape from serious injury when working in the top of a tall tree which the county road gang was removing from the townline road east of Ravenshoe. When the tree fell unexpectedly he was carried down with it. He managed to avoid falling from the tree or being struck by a limb. While he was stiff and sore he was making satisfactory progress under Dr.
O. M. Beattie's care in Sutton hospital early this week.

RAVENSHOE

RAVENSHOE GIRL

A pretty wedding took place at the home of the bride's the late Mrs. Watson, was united

MOUNT ALBERT OLD WELL CAVE-IN CAUSES MAN'S DEATH

A terrible accident happened on the farm of Lance Coupland near the village on Friday afternoon while they were trying to re-curb an old well.

Arthur Smith of Sandford was assisting with the work and they had just gotten one curb down and Mr. Smith was down in the well when it caved in and he was buried under several feet of earth and must have been killed instantly. The body was recovered and removed to his home at Sandford where the funeral took place. He leaves a widow and one daughter.

Miss Mina Oliver of Toronto spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Oliver. Mr. Gordon Moot of Uxbridge spent the weekend at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. Stewart. The Red Cross rooms are open for sewing every Thursday.

Mr. Weir and family have moved into Mrs. Rea's house on the hill.

Mrs. C. E. Rowan has gone to Toronto to spend the winter at the home of her son, Mr. B. Rowan.

Mount Albert is one of the small towns which has managed to keep a produce market, through the years. There has been a market every Tuesday and, though sometimes small, it has still kept on. Lately it has improved. There is a good buyer, who comes from Toronto and is well liked.

Mrs. G. Barnes is in York County hospital convalescing nicely after an operation last Saturday.

The Y.P.S. of the United church had a fine meeting on Monday evening. Miss Mildred Dike dealt with the subject, "Hobbies," as a topic, and demonstrated her talk with a great many examples of handwork done at home, now and long ago.

and a stamp collection which belongs to Ann Carruthers. She also had some work from other countries. It was exceedingly interesting and educational. The young people were pleased to have with them Howard Cunningham of the R.C.A.F. in Toronto, the former treasurer of the society.

The W. A. of the United church held their regular meeting on Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. W. D. Stokes.

The monthly meeting of the Cheerio class will be held on Saturday evening at the home of Mrs. Geo. Walsh. All members are asked to be present as this is the election of officers for 1943.

The flute band will practice every Thursday.

C. E. Wheeland, engineer with the Hydro-Electric Power Commission, spent the weekend at his home in Mount Albert. Mr. Wheeland has been at the hydro project at De Cou Falls for the past year and leaves Toronto this week for the Port Arthur district, where transmission lines are to go in the new iron ore development at Steep Rock.

Mayor Will Again Offer His Services To Town

Mayor Dr. L. W. Dales indicated to the Newmarket Lions club on Monday evening that he would be a candidate for re-election. The nomination meeting takes place on Friday evening in the town hall.

Dr. Dales and members of the town council were guests of the Lions club for "municipal night." President Frank Bowser welcomed the guests.

Dr. Dales said that "the town council of the last year or two had left some marks on the town. In 1941 we gave you an up-to-date water system. This year we gave you a decent, sanitary place to pay your taxes in, and I am sure that that will be a pleasure to everybody."

"The council appreciate the work that is being done by this splendid social welfare club. There is a feeling that there is someone behind us."

Tailorist Alex. Eves earlier in the evening had the club and council sing. "I want a nurse just like the nurse that waited on dear old dad," and Dr. Dales made reference to the public health nurse question. Editors, he said good-naturedly, had a feeling of "omnipotence," and he said, he had never yet heard one admit that he was wrong.

"If we have to go to bat, I am going to bat with the council," Dr. Dales concluded.

Deputy-Reeve Joseph Vale joined the mayor in expressing thanks to the club and thanking the club for its work.

IS N.H.S. GRAD

LAC Gordon Smalley is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Garnet Smalley, Mount Albert. LAC Smalley is a graduate of Newmarket high school. He took basic training at Newmarket military camp before joining the air force a year and a half ago. He arrived overseas about two weeks ago.

Training Becomes More Intense, Soldier Writes

"Once more I must thank you and the veterans of Newmarket for their kindness in sending me 300 cigarettes," says a letter received by the Newmarket Veterans Soldiers' Comforts fund from Sgt. Albert Lindenbaum. "I certainly appreciate these very much."

"As yet I am still up in the highlands of Scotland. With our unit things are much the same as ever. Considering it is a technical unit, they would be. Yet our military training is becoming more intense all the time. Of course, we all expect this, as we are anxiously looking forward to the day when we may return victoriously to our homes."

"Received your 300 cigarettes yesterday," writes Gnr. Lorne McCordick in thanking the veterans. "We've been without mail for over two months now and most of us were getting pretty downhearted. You can imagine my joy at receiving your parcel. Our battery name has been changed three times in less than six months. So it gives the post office staff quite a headache in forwarding our mail."

"In addition to that, our battery is separated so far from the rest of the regiment, our mail has been coming direct from the base post office in Canada to the battery instead of regimental headquarters. Just preparing to pull out on a scheme, so must close now."

A letter from Ptes. J. R. Blencowe and J. F. Blencowe, expressing appreciation to the veterans, says the mails seem to be very slow and everyone has been short of cigarettes.

"Kindly convey my sincere thanks to the officers and members of the Newmarket Veterans Association for the cigarettes I received," writes Cpl. A. V. Elphinstone. "It must certainly keep the Vets busy raising funds to supply the amount of Newmarket boys there are over here now. We certainly appreciate their efforts and hope the time is not far distant when we will get back home and thank you all personally."

"Received your most welcome parcel of cigarettes this week," Gnr. Bob Dixon writes the veterans. "They arrived with our first Canadian mail in weeks and at a time when the whole troop were smoking English cigarettes. So you are awarded a vote of thanks from the group of us. We are at present in our winter quarters—a lovely mansion. I am about two miles away from Lorne McCordick. Was in London on Sunday and met Harold Cook and Ivan Ruddock. Just back from a scheme and have lots of work to do preparing for a blanco inspection tomorrow."

Cards expressing thanks for cigarettes have been received by the veterans from Spr. H. Moss, Tpr. Harold Gadsby, Cpl. C. E. Bennison, Pte. Jack Luesby, Spr. A. G. Chantler, Spr. E. Thompson, Tpr. Cec. Hoover, Tpr. W. J. Gardner, Gnr. A. L. Emmerson, Pte. W. Newton and LAC Mervyn Wainman.

The regular meeting of the Queensville United church W.A. will not be held until Dec. 8. The ladies are asked to come early to quilt Red Cross quilts.

DISCUSS FARM PROBLEMS

The Newmarket East farm radio forum was held on Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Boyd. The next meeting will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Walker on the townline on Monday evening.

Anyone interested in the manpower situation and farm labor should attend, as this will be the subject of the broadcast and discussion.

POLICE COURT Two Ration Books Are Issued For Same Child

When Magistrate W. F. Woodliffe, in York county police court on Tuesday, found Mrs. Verna Pollock, Island Grove, guilty of transporting fish in a season prohibited by law he fined her the sum of $15 and costs with an alternative of ten days in jail. Mrs. Pollock pleaded not guilty to the charge.

A charge of having fish caught out of season, of which she was jointly charged with Duncan Asquith, also of Island Grove, a hired man, was adjourned for judgment. A third charge against Mrs. Pollock and Mr. Asquith, having fish caught in an illegal manner, was also adjourned.

Constable Ernest Prosser, game warden, told his worship that on Oct. 15 and 16, 1942, he and Mr. Pollock, while patrolling the south shore of Lake Simcoe in the vicinity of Island Grove, he observed Mrs. Pollock and Mr. Asquith going across the lake to Snake Island in an out-board motorboat and waited until they returned about a half hour later.

"When they returned I stepped into the boat-house and saw Mrs. Pollock getting out of the boat," testified the officer. "Mr. Asquith was in the boat. A sack was in the front of the boat and in it were six lake trout."

"What is the date of the closed season?" asked Crown Attorney N. L. Mathews, K.C.

"The closed season is from Oct. 15 to Nov. 15," replied the witness. He went on to say that Mrs. Pollock told him that she was the owner of the motor and the boat. Neither she nor Mr. Asquith mentioned who owned the fish. He said that he seized the fish and the boat. He later examined the fish with Constable Chew, game warden stationed at Midland.

"Had the fish been freshly caught?" asked the crown.

Mr. Prosser replied that they had been freshly caught with a gill net.

"Are the fish here this morning?" asked Harry Rose, counsel for the defence. Constable Prosser said that they were not, that he had given them to charity.

"I want to know that they are not," interjected the crown.

Fred S. Chew told his worship that he had examined the six lake trout and found that they weighed between four and five pounds each and had net marks near the head. He said that they were freshly caught within a day or two.

Mr. Rose argued that the charge against Mrs. Pollock should be dismissed, as there was doubt as to when the fish were caught.

After hearing evidence in the case of Louis Stouthenburgh, Victoria Square, who is charged with making false representation in June, 1942, when making an application to the wartime prices and trade board for a food ration book, Magistrate Woodliffe adjourned the case for one week.

According to W. H. McEneaney, ration officer of the wartime prices and trade board for Toronto and surrounding territory, the defendant had made an application for a temporary ration card for Joan Paul Stouthenburgh, R. R. 1, Gormley. He said that when the temporary ration card expired, a permanent ration book was issued for the child in question. Another temporary card and permanent book were issued for the same child on the application of Mrs. Ida Mae McRoberts, he said.

"I asked Mr. Stouthenburgh how many members were in his family and he said his wife and himself," testified George H. Tuft, investigator of the wartime prices and trade board. "He admitted that he signed the card. He said that his wife was ill for some time. I asked him about Joan Paul and he said that she was the granddaughter of Mrs. McRoberts, who lived in Victoria Square and who came to his house once a week to clean and brought the child with her. He said that he gave her some of her meals. He said that he put her on the ration card and realized now that he made a mistake and was foolish."

The witness said that only one coupon had been used on the ration card and none from the permanent book that Mr. Stouthenburgh had. He admitted that Mr. Stouthenburgh, who is about 69 years of age and lived in the country nearly the whole of his life, had been absolutely frank with him and did not try to mislead him but had voluntarily given him the ration card and book.

Finding him guilty of travelling 60 miles an hour on Yonge St. his worship fined Murray McKenna, Toronto, $25 and costs. The charge was laid by Provincial Constable Alex. Ferguson.

OPPOSES SUNDAY MOVIES

Rev. Henry Cotton, pastor of Trinity United church, Newmarket, makes the following suggestion in a letter to a Toronto newspaper:

There is a very simple and practical solution to the problem of entertainment for the men and women in the armed forces on Sunday afternoons. If the movie magnates are actuated by altruistic and patriotic motives—and we may assume that they are—let them provide the best films available to the Y.M.C.A. representatives, Salvation Army representatives, or the padres in the various camps.

Good projectors, operators, recreation halls and drill halls to accommodate crowds are available in most camps, and there are ample padres or other competent leaders in nearly all camps, especially in large centres like Toronto, where the problem of entertainment appears to be most acute. Thus the needs of the men and women would be met; the moving picture houses would remain closed on the Lord's Day, as they should, and our Canadian Sunday, of which we are proud, would be conserved.

BOARD GRANTS RED CROSS USE OF SCHOOL

The public school board on Friday evening granted to Mrs. Donald McLean use of a room at Stuart Scott school to organize a nursery school and kindergarten. Chairman W. H. Eves presided.

The board decided that it would be unwise at the present time to embark on a publicly-financed plan, but gave Mrs. McLean permission to charge fees sufficient to cover her own remuneration and incidental expense. She stated that the parents of about 18 children from about three to five years had expressed interest in the proposal.

Training would include sitting still, dances, games, songs, Mrs. McLean told the board. Between three and eight years is an important time in a child's life, she said.

Mrs. J. C. R. Edwards asked Principal H. A. Jackson if kindergarten training would help the children when they started school.

"It certainly would," he replied.

In reply to Secretary R. L. Pritchard, Mrs. McLean said that if engaged by the board she would require $45 a month for five mornings a week.

Mrs. Edwards stated that if the board undertook the plan all interested children would be able to attend regardless of ability to pay.

Mr. Eves said that he was opposed to starting anything new that would obligate another board. "I look to see a greater depression after this war than we ever had," Mr. Eves commented.

The board gave Mrs. W. R. Stephens, president of the Red Cross, use of an extra classroom at the Stuart Scott school for storing Red Cross training equipment, including beds, and the use of the downstairs vacant room one evening a week. This would not interfere with Mrs. McLean using the room in the day-time, she said.

Mrs. R. J. Rogers, Sharon, will direct a "nursing reserve" course, Mrs. Stephens said. "We know wars always bring epidemics," she said. "We are situated beside a military camp. While there are inoculations, we know what happened in the last war. Planes move from continent to continent. Disease can spread quickly. We want lay people to be ready to meet any emergency. Nurses are scarce and doctors are few and far between."

Mrs. Stephens said that Victoria Square was a pioneer in nursing reserve work.

The board decided to pay superannuation of $3.85 a month for John Scott, now in the army, until the end of the year, with any further payments to be discussed by the 1943 board.

Mr. Jackson reported on the number of pupils in each room as a result of changing from 15 rooms to 14. The total enrollment at the end of October was 532, he said. Miss Hazel Sprague's room at the King George school (grade six) has 45 pupils. Two other rooms have 41 and two 40, and the others vary down to two with 33.

"Do you feel that, unless there is a drastic influx at the first of the year, you can carry on to the end of the year with 14 rooms?" asked Mr. Eves. "Yes," Mr. Jackson replied.

PASTOR GOES

there; and on the way down there, I would, of course, pause for a word of greeting with Ralph Boag and Bert Morrison, and exchange digs with Harvey McCordick.

However, by this time we have enlarged our acquaintance out here, and although they have been unable to replace the "old" friends in our affections, they are, for the most part, splendid people, free and friendly and obviously eager to make us feel at home amongst them.

Now a little about our impressions of the west. Foremost in our minds is the amazing fact that this land of reputed sunshine and fair weather served us up a diet of rain on 25 days out of our first 30. Perhaps that sounds rather unimportant, but actually it is of tremendous importance. The west was dry—very dry—too dry! But 1942 has given "the weary world its heart's desire."

The sloughs and dug-outs are full again, and the wells once more give forth water. The prairie wilderness has blossomed like the rose and farmers who had lost everything except heart, and had almost lost that, have been revelling once more in the sweet music of the binder and threshing-machine. Such sounds are mere noises to the fortunate Ontario farmer, but in the westerner's ears they seem like a joyous symphony. A farmer's wife told me just a few days ago that the threshers were coming to their farm for the first time in nine years.

It has been my privilege to help with the most abundant harvest, for, as everyone knows, the lateness of the fine weather, plus the heavy crop and labor shortage, has put threshing almost two months behind the usual. I wound up my activities along those lines just this week, and the last two weeks saw us working in frost and snow.

A few nights ago, I drove homeward between 12 midnight and 1 a.m. On the way, I noticed two farmers still threshing, one by the combined lights of his tractor and car, and the other by the lurid glare of a burning straw stack. Such sights have been common for farmers who stay at the job as long as the threshing teams will consent.

You may be interested in our town. It is about the size of Stouffville, with a population of slightly more than 1,100. Eight hundred of that number will be Ukrainian or Dukhobor, the former element being predominant. The Britishers still "run" the town, however, and it is our obvious, though difficult task, to make Canadian Britishers of these Europeans.

In the church work, I have charge of five fields, one 20 miles west, another ten miles east, the third 12 miles northeast, the fourth 20 miles direct east, this being the well known Dukhobor settlement of Verigin; and finally Canora, the "home" town. Naturally, there are very few Britishers in Verigin, home-site of the late Peter Verigin, head of the Dukhobors. I rather imagine that a good many easterners entertain the idea that these Dukhobors are biological phenomena, who stage nudist parades every summer. But such is far from true. For the most part, they are respectable citizens, and very good farmers, and the nudist parades of ten years ago were conducted as organized protests against something or other.

The Dukhobors came to Canada with the understanding that they would never be called upon to take up arms. But as one of our Englishmen who lives amongst them said, "They were religious when they came here; they wouldn't cheat or steal or swear, and they wouldn't fight; they wouldn't even touch tobacco or alcohol. But now they drink and smoke and steal and swear with the worst of us, so we might just as well give 'em guns and send 'em over."

I am somewhat inclined to agree with the friend just quoted, for they have broken almost every tenet of their agreement, but still hold on to their special privileges. When other farmers couldn't find help at any price, the Dukhobors were harvesting their crops and coming to town for their new clothes while the Canadian farmer's grain lay unstocked in the field, simply because the Dukhobors' sons and daughters are all at home.

Here is a little revealing incident from the harvest field to conclude this article. It happened on Labor Day when we were stocking, that being one of the five fine days in our first 30. My companion in stocking was the C.C.F. provincial candidate for this section, and the gentleman manning the tractor and binder was the C.C.F. dominion member for Yorkton.

"You fellows stock until lunch," he said, "and then you can change with us on the tractor and binder." However, after lunch they fooled us. They ate theirs at a distance from us, then climbed aboard and went to cut at the other side of the field. Why not go over and dislodge them? you ask! Because the field covered 160 acres, as Harvey McCordick would say, "That is too far to walk, and, there is an evil force at work in this world today that, unless we do our utmost to combat it, will reduce our civilization to a desert. "We are destroying men with all the means that science can devise. We are destroying souls for whom Christ died just as much as He died for ours."

"We are fighting to get a chance to rebuild the world. Let's be sure we build it as God wants it. From our tremendous investment in the last war we reaped economic, moral and spiritual depression. At least, we won, you say. But did we? The German army was welcomed back to Germany as unconquered."

"The League of Nations didn't fail entirely. It made a contribution, but insofar as its object was to secure peace, it failed."

"More people are thinking in terms of peace than ever before. 'Many people say, 'Annihilate Germany.' We can't annihilate Germany. Somebody else says, 'Take Germany over and educate them for 25 years—to get the blood-lust out of them.' It might succeed but I doubt it. You won't get peace that way."

"I distrust war. I don't believe it ever will bring peace. But it will bring the opportunity. If we win, to secure peace in some other way. War begets every evil, lying, lust, hate, prejudice, murder."

"Others are going to prevent war by a state of preparedness. You won't agree, but that doesn't matter, as long as we start thinking about it. The way to peace is not by preparing for war. That is to fly in the face of history. If the nation is physically prepared for war, she is morally and spiritually prepared for war."

"Civilization must destroy war, or war is going to destroy civilization. We need a new type of patriotism: 'My country, may she ever be right, but if she is wrong I will not hesitate to say so.' The new patriotism has to build its foundation on something that God himself has to offer."

"We must adventure for peace in faith that must be ready to reach out just because Christ calls us to do so. I believe in God. I believe that if He sees people trying to live as they should God will bless them with peace."

"I suggest that the alternative to the military way is the missionary way."

"Germany, which gave us Martin Luther, was a very religious country, but Germany, under the leadership of higher criticism, turned aside. We see the result today."

"I feel that if one-tenth of the men who are dying in the war today had died for Christianity and we spent the money for Christianity that we are spending in this war, peace would be secure."

"As a nation we have wandered. As a nation we must return."

W. H. Eves introduced Mr. Stein. President Frank Bowser was in the chair.

besides, never trust a politician."

Well, to complete the story, they finally let us take over at 7.30 p.m. after we became sufficiently incensed to walk the length of the "field." We worked until darkness fell, and then simply switched on the tractor's headlights, and kept on going until the field was all cut. Super at 11 p.m. It's a great country! My wife and the wee Greens join me in saying that we think we'll like it.
